

Case Story

An Italian cosmetic manufacturer chooses Nederman NEX S for operator comfort and safety

Situation: Believe it or not, but even the cosmetic industry can have problems with unpleasant odours and harmful vapours!

At this factory in northern Italy, the problems were generated during preparation of perfumes and beauty creams.

Solution: With the risk for explosive gas being generated, the application was classified under the ATEX directive and standard extraction arms were out of the question. The Komsa company successfully recommended a solution with 2 x NEX S (4m) arms.

Benefits: The workspace is now safe and odour free, and the use of ATEX approved extraction equipment offers comfort to operators and management.